Community Profile

Why Iberia?

Iberia Parish, Louisiana, strategically located between Houston and New Orleans on the Gulf Coast, is a progressive place with a great workforce where it's easy to do business. But instead of us telling you all about it, we thought we'd let some of the people who live and work here share their thoughts...

"I don't think I could recommend a better place than Iberia Parish. We recently opened up our second brand new dealership on Highway 90 – that part of the city has just taken off in the last several years. The intersection of Highways 90 and 14 unite five parishes, so it's been a perfect place for us to grow."

-Diane Musson, President, Musson-Patout Automotive Group

"For as long as I can remember, Iberia Parish has always provided us with the necessary labor and employees that we seek for our company. It's a small community, but it reaches out to lots of areas, so we can draw from the surrounding parishes. So I believe we have a very capable workforce."

-Jady Regard, "Chief Nut Officer," Cane River Pecan Company

"I would say our labor force in Iberia Parish is second to none. The people here are used to working in a 24/7/365 environment, and they put in a full day's work. We don't have any real issues that you sometimes see with organized labor. For us, it's been a win-win situation. We don't have a hard time finding people, and once we find them, we keep them."

-Terry Dressel, Vice President of National Operations, Aggreko North America

"Most of what we produce is shipped out by truck, so truck access is our number one requirement. Being able to put something on a truck and have it go anywhere in the nation is a great benefit: from Highway 90, we're tied in to Interstate 10 and Interstate 49. We can easily head north, east or west, plus we have the benefit of the ports in Houston and New Orleans, as well."

-Jake Giardina, President, Honiron Corporation

"Beyond being where our company started, Iberia Parish was a great place to expand. The land was relatively inexpensive, and for us it was also geographically centralized. When we're shipping boats everywhere from Seattle to New York, the Gulf Coast is one of the better locations to be for shipping and transport reasons. Being closer to the middle, we don't have to transport everything cross-country, and that's a big deal for us."

-Chris Allard, President, Metal Shark Boats

"New Iberia has a charm all its own. From the historical aspects of the town to the people who live here – it's just unique. Everyone here is really friendly: you can walk down the street, and people greet you here, they know who you are. There's a real sense of security living here. We have all the amenities of larger places, but we never lost that small town feel."

-Beth Forrest Clarke, M.D., ENT of Acadiana

"Every day is an inspiration to an artist living in Iberia Parish. It can start with a sunrise, or the movement of the trees or the sounds you hear along the bayou. There are so many joyous things around here, and I think an artist wants to capture that... And many do here."

-Paul Schexnayder, Artist and Owner, A&E Gallery

"The musical talent in the Acadiana region is second to none. And you can raise your family here and be an artist: that's what makes it different here than in the larger cities. But you can still make a great living, and you're within three to five hours of every major city in the south."

-Andy Smith, Musician, "The Andy Smith Band"

"The Bayou Companies has thrived in Iberia Parish, mainly because of our logistical position between New Orleans and the Port of Houston. We're serviced by pipe from every pipe mill in the world, so whether we're talking about ultra deep-water projects or bringing crude oil from Canada to the Gulf Coast, we're servicing pipeline needs throughout the North American market from right here in Iberia Parish. Being centrally located on the Gulf of Mexico, with the Port of Iberia, our rail facilities and the future expansion of Interstate 49, we are well-served intermodally for our business."

-David Boulet, Director of Business Development, The Bayou Companies

Welcome to Iberia Parish

Acadiana Positives!

- According to a new working paper from professors at Harvard and the Vancouver School, the five happiest cities in the United States are all in one place: Louisiana! The city that ranked number one is located in Acadiana.
- Louisiana Economic Quarterly, Q1 2015 praised the Acadiana area as being "home to a thriving advanced manufacturing sector that includes both large multinational companies, as well as homegrown innovators who sell their products and services worldwide."
- Washington – FEMA 2012 Community Resilience Innovation Challenge Recipients Award Winners Selected: Out of over 1,900 applications that were received from across the country, the "Safe Harbor Master Plan for Vermilion Bay, Louisiana Sea Grant" was awarded as one of the 30 recipients of the program, for its emphasis on innovation, collaboration with community stakeholders, sustainability, repeatability and measurable benefits to the community.
- "It was an honor to meet people with an incredible drive to do good in the world. This is what #TeamRenaissance is all about!" – Dylan Ratigan, after his visit to New Iberia, remarking on the three hydroponic community-based garden cooperatives started by the Iberia

Port of Iberia

The Port of Iberia is a 2,000 acre industrial and manufacturing site surrounding a man-made port complex. The port has access to the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway and the Gulf of Mexico through its own Commercial Canal and has access to the Mississippi River through major ports in Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

The Port of Iberia has expanded its waterfront property and has completed new bulkheading and dredging projects. The possibilities are unlimited when you add to this the existing industrial facilities, the constant flow of raw materials, and the multi-million dollar public dock facility.

Progress Point Business Park will be a 50-acre mixed-use commercial park located adjacent to Acadiana Regional Airport in Iberia Parish.

Featuring easy access from U.S. Highway 90, Progress Point will offer tenants the latest in fiber optic connectivity, underground utilities and a variety of lot sizes ideal for retail, office, warehouse and corporate space.

"We are creating a state-of-the-art business park development concept that when completed, will be unlike anything else in Iberia Parish," said Mike Tarantino, President and CEO of the Iberia Industrial Development Foundation (IDF). "And with a great central location between Acadiana Regional Airport and the Port of Iberia, we expect to attract a wide variety of businesses and non-traditional industries."

The park will be strategically located at the gateway to the airport, and will feature curb-and-gutter streets, sidewalks, ample parking for employees and customers, as well as planned green spaces within the development.

This is the first project spearheaded by the Iberia Economic Development Authority, which was created in 2008.

Progress Point is located at the corner of Jefferson Island Road (Louisiana Highway 675) and U.S. Highway 90.

Iberia Parish is located in the middle of a unique cultural region known as Acadiana. The name is derived from the French-Canadian Acadians, who were exiled from their homeland of Nova Scotia in the late 1700's. Iberia Parish also has a rich Spanish heritage, dating from 1779, when a group of about 500 settlers moved from Spain to Louisiana. They made their home along the banks of the Bayou Teche, and founded the city of New Iberia. Five communities are located within the boundaries of Iberia Parish:

City of New Iberia

New Iberia, the seat of Iberia Parish, lies on the banks of Bayou Teche. New Iberia was incorporated in 1836. It is known as the "Queen City of the Teche". A visit to New Iberia rewards you with history and culture, and a feast for the senses, unlike anything you've experienced before.

City of Jeanerette

Jeanerette, known as "Sugar City" derived its name from John W. Jeanerette, a Carolina gentleman who came to the Teche country in 1830. He purchased Pine Grove Plantation, known as Beau Pre, located north of present day Jeanerette. Sugar cane became a key factor in the community's economic growth for the past 200 years. Abundant sugar cane farmland and a sugar mill for processing the crop form the backbone of Jeanerette's local economy. Agricultural machinery manufacturing, fish farming, livestock and oil and gas related industries also call Jeanerette home.

Town of Delcambre

Delcambre is a small seaport, which harvests an abundance of seafood from the Gulf of Mexico. It is the home of the annual Shrimp Festival. Rich farms nearby, cattle herds and a growing community help make Delcambre one of the most promising of Louisiana towns along the Gulf Coast

Village of Loreauville

Loreauville was first known as Picotville. In the 1840's it was renamed for Ozaire Loreau. Loreauville was incorporated in 1909, with a population of 291 people. The area has grown much since then, with the area that lines the Bayou Teche becoming home to several ship building firms that build boats from small pleasure crafts to large crewboats used in the support of the oil and gas industry.

Community of Lydia

In 1869 Hypolite Patout, Jr. purchased 7200 acres for growing sugar cane, raising cattle and lumber production. He named his plantation for his eldest daughter, Lydia. The community that grew up around his plantation adopted the name Lydia. Lydia is the gateway to Cypremort Point, Vermilion Bay and the Gulf of Mexico.
